PRESIDENT HIT IN EYES

Taft Admits the Reciprocity Blow Was a Severe One

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—President Taft arrived here at 7:58 this morning. He was taken immediately to the Mercantile club for breakfast. While here he is to be the guest of the Million Population club.

President Taft, after having breakfast at the Mercantile club, was taken for a forty-mile automobile drive in St. Louis county. On the ride, he witnessed for a few minutes a football game and then went to a hotel for a brief rest.

He addressed the Masonic club for five minutes and then went to the City club for luncheon. He is scheduled to lay a cornerstone in the new V. W. C. A. building at 2:30 o'clock, after which he will proceed to the National league baseball grounds to witness a game between Philadelphia and St. Louis.

He will be a guest of honor at a private dinner at 6 o'clock and at 8 o'clock tonight he is scheduled to speak at the Coliseum. He will leave the city shortly before midnight.

The President's reception here was non-partisan. At the Mercantile club, three former governors of Missouri, Stephens, Francis and Folk, Democrats, were on the reception committee.

At the Union station five companies of Boy Scouts were given a place of honor despite the protest of the union labor men who had protested against the scouts participating. A union band will furnish music at the Coliseum tonight.

Governor Hadley introduced President Taft at the breakfast, saying that all parties and all factions joined in the cordial greeting to him.

President Taft replied briefly, saying he felt absolutely at home in St. Louis and then referred to reciprocity.

"I suppose you have heard the policy of reciprocity is not going through," said Taft. "I see Speaker Champ Clark has been speculating as to who is responsible, but I do not know that I am content to abide by the result."

"I have been on the bench long enough to know that when you get a decision that hits you between the eyes, the best thing to do is to sit still. I regret that it is not going through, for it would have insured benefit to both countries."

The President then referred to the recent governors' conference at Spring Lake, N. J., which named a committee to follow the decision of Judge Sanborn through the United States supreme court.

He said the governors of the states have a right to take an interest in the affairs of their states.

YOUNG MAN FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Alleging that he accosted her on the street and took liberties, which would constitute a serious offense, a sixteen-year-old girl appeared at police headquarters about 9 o'clock last night and requested the arrest of William Furniss, aged 22 years.

Furniss was arrested half an hour later. He was apparently intoxicated when brought to headquarters and a charge of disorderly conduct was filed against him. This charge will be changed to one of a far more serious nature, however, if the young woman who made the complaint desires to appear against him when he is arraigned in police court.

FOWLER IS DRIVEN BACK

Aviator Unable to Fly Over the Sierra Nevada Mountains

Colfax, Cal., Sept. 23.—A rampart of mountains shrouding up through the mists this morning near back Aviator Robert G. Fowler, who made an unsuccessful attempt to scale the Sierras, in resuming his transcontinental aeroplane flight, interrupted Sept. 11 by the wrecking of his biplane near here.

Fowler left the ground at 6:43 o'clock, flew twenty-four miles to Blue Canyon, and after a half hour's battle with the mountain winds, returned to Colfax, alighting at 8:55. He said his engine was not strong enough to carry him over the summit and that he would put in a stronger engine and start again Monday.

When Fowler got into the sky the winds slapped his air craft about like waves toying with a channel boat. The mountain air from Colfax to Summit is cross-hatched with uncharted gusts and they nosed the invader about the sky until his biplane bucked like a cayuse. Climbing higher, he found stiller currents, but the air was thin and the planes would not "bite." He thereupon returned.

When Fowler appeared he was flying at a high altitude and descended near his place of departure in a long glide. He said that his engine was not strong enough to carry him over the summit.

Testing Air Currents.

Colfax, Cal., Sept. 23.—Aviator Robert G. Fowler was ready at 5:30 o'clock this morning to resume his interrupted flight to New York, the next stage of which will carry him over the crest of the Sierra Nevada mountains. He waited only upon a favorable report of weather conditions at the summit.

Cloudy weather, light southwest wind and a stationary barometer were reported from Summit at 5:30 a. m. Cisco reported strong winds and low-hanging clouds. It was the latter which delayed the aviator. Fowler said that he would not start until the clouds began to clear away as he feared to lose his way if he attempted to cross the range through the mist.

Fowler crossed to Colfax after making a flight around Cape Horn and a number of miles up the mountains as a preliminary trip to test the air currents. He rose to a height of 4,000 feet during the flight, but the weather was not clear enough to permit the attempt to cross the range. He at once prepared for another start.

He left the ground at 6:43 a. m., circling the city several times until he reached a height of 1,500 feet, then swung toward the summit. In twelve minutes he was out of sight, his engine running smoothly. The aeroplane reappeared in the eastern sky at 7:15, the aviator apparently devoting himself to trying out the air currents as he kept working higher and higher into the air.

Just before he left the ground Fowler said that the machine was in good shape and that he had every prospect of success.

A message from Summit reading, "Clouds are high," was handed to him, and, turning to his crew, Fowler said:

"Night as well as cheer."

A minute later he rose in the air and began circling for altitude.

PROSECUTED FOR USING MILK CANS

Because they appropriated milk cans belonging to the creameries of the state for their own personal use, four residents of Layton were fined $3 and costs by Justice of the Peace Henry Ellis of Layton Thursday afternoon, according to information received by Willard Hansen, state dairy and food commissioner.

These are the first prosecutions under the new law enacted by the last legislature making it a misdemeanor for any other than the lawful owner to use the cans and containers used for shipping purposes. According to the law, these containers are to be used only for transporting the product from the dairymen to the creamery owning the cans.

Those pleading guilty to the violation are: A. Adams, William Morgan, Lawrence Thornley, and A. Naylor.

LURED TO OLD HOUSE

Doctor Escapes a Terrible Fate by Killing a Man

Chicago, Sept. 23.—A plot to lure Dr. William H. Folker to an unoccupied house, tie him down with ropes fastened to staples driven in the floor and hold him prisoner in a small clothes closet for the payment of a large ransom by the wealthy parents of the physician, is now being held by the police to cover the killing yesterday of Emil Dignos.

Dignos was shot and killed by Dr. Folker in the vacant house following a struggle. The physician says he was lured to the premises by Dignos on the pretense that Dignos' uncle needed an official attention. Dr. Folker declares Dignos pointed a revolver at him and compelled him to give up his watch and some money and that, after a struggle, he (Folker) obtained possession of the weapon and shot his assailant.

The theory that Dr. Folker's assailant had planned to hold him for ransom was advanced after detectives had searched the house where the killing occurred and discovered an improvised bed of excelsior surrounded by staples driven in the floor and threaded with a stout rope. In a corner of the closet was an axe and a small roll of black cloth.

Dignos has been identified as the man who rented the unoccupied house several days ago. The police have discovered that Dignos was without funds and owed his landlady $200.

JOHN SMALLEY COMMENCES SUIT

John Smalley has commenced suit against J. Stanley Dee et al to recover $250 alleged to be due for the expense of employing legal services to protect his interests in a certain lease of real estate.

Mr. Smalley says that he leased a piece of land of the defendants May 27, 1902, upon which he agreed to build, and did build a business house; that in 1910 the property was condemned by the city and taken for street purposes, and that it is now being used as a thoroughfare, known as Hudson avenue. He alleges that the defendants refused to protect his interests and he was compelled to employ an attorney to do so, at a cost of $250. The property was situated on Twenty-fifth street, between Washington and Grant avenues.

DARROW ASKS FOR MORE TIME

Los Angeles, Sept. 23.—Clarence Darrow announced today that he would demand of Judge Bordwell on Monday a two-weeks delay in starting the trial of the McNamara brothers, which is scheduled for Oct. 11. Darrow said the delay had been made necessary because of harassments for which he held the prosecution responsible.

The request will be made when Attorney Harrington appears in court Monday in contempt proceedings instituted by the district attorney.

W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney, said the prosecution would vigorously oppose a postponement of the McNamara trial.

Darrow declared that the defense had been so harassed by side issues, such as the contempt proceedings against Harrington, Mrs. Orlie E. McNamara and George Nelson, McNamara's wife, that it had not had sufficient time to prepare for the trial.

Ford said that more time had been allowed the defense in its preparation for the trial than had been given in any other case in this country. He asserted that the "sooner the defense called its witnesses into court to testify the sooner they would be free from any proceedings against them to learn what they had been doing in influencing witnesses for the state."

LAURIER WILL NOT RETIRE

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—"I will remain in parliament as leader of the opposition for some time. I would be a deserter of my party if I ran away now," said Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the newspaper men today.

Sir Wilfrid said he had intended to retire, and no doubt would do so after some time, but not immediately. He undoubtedly will go through the next session as a leader of the opposition and he may continue there a good many seasons. Though 70 years old, his health is good.

The prime minister stated that the government would resign as soon as possible to enable Earl Grey to leave Canada and the Duke of Connaught to succeed him as governor general.

BURNHAM NOW OUT OF PRISON

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 23.—Arthur J. Burnham, who has been under arrest since the discovery of the sextuple murder in which he lost his wife and two children and in which he lost his two neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Wayne, and their babe, has been released from jail, but will be kept under surveillance.

After securing his liberty, he went to the office of an attorney and made over a $2,000 Woodman Insurance policy to the two children of his cousin E. E. Hardwick, of Detroit, Mich. His release followed a comparison of his finger prints with those found on an axe. Little progress has been made in the search for the murderer in the last few hours.
